

Judge Rejects Lewis Claim Stop-Strike Order Illegal

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP) — Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough said today John L. Lewis and his mine workers "are guilty of contempt of court" if it is proved legally they disregarded his order against a coal mine walkout.

In those words, Goldsborough indicated that his decision in the contempt case against Lewis and his miners would not be influenced by the union's claim that the stop-strike order violated the Norris-LaGuardia Anti-Injunction act.

Regardless of whether or not the Norris-LaGuardia act applies in the soft coal case, Goldsborough said, no one can disobey a restraining order.

"We Would Have Anarchy"

"If that could be done we would have anarchy," the judge commented.

"If the defendants disregarded the restraining order, then they are guilty of contempt of court whether the Norris-LaGuardia act applies or does not apply.

"That, in this court's opinion, is the law."

Lewis, who sat stony-faced with his attorneys, and the UMW so far have made no attempt to show that they tried to obey the judge's restraining order of November 18, which instructed the UMW chief to withdraw his notice to the government that their working agreement was ending November 20.

Justice Draws Laugh

Shortly after his sharp interjection, Goldsborough recessed court at 12:30 p. m. (EST), and cleared the room. The whole morning had been taken up with arguments of three Lewis lawyers seeking to win dismissal of the contempt action.

Prior to the recess, Joseph Padway, general counsel of the AFL, appearing in a demonstration of AFL solidarity behind Lewis, disagreed with Goldsborough's analysis of the law. Padway told the court that Lewis's attorneys had advised the mine workers' chief that he was within his rights in disregarding the restraining order.

The justice drew a laugh when he remarked dryly:

"The cemetery is full of people who took the doctor's advice."

At another point, Goldsborough remarked that Lewis and the United Mine Workers made "a very great

YOUTH BATTLES POLICE; FLEES AND IS CAUGHT

A former North Carolina youth was in jail here today held technically on a disorderly conduct charge, with the likelihood of several more serious charges being preferred later, after escaping from police late Tuesday afternoon and threatening to kill the officers who later arrested him in a cornfield on the Fairfield road.

Borough police said he was John Robert Nelson, 18, who came to Gettysburg last summer with a carnival outfit, and remained here. He spent several weeks in jail last summer for the theft of clothing from an automobile here, and was a witness in the case of John D. Becker, South Washington street merchant convicted of receiving stolen property. Since his release from jail he has been living on North Stratton street and Carlisle street, police said.

Arrested In Square

Nelson was picked up in Center square Tuesday afternoon for questioning in connection with a recent larceny here. He was taken to the jail in the police car, but at the jail entrance became abusive and demanded to see a warrant, asserting, police said, that he "couldn't be arrested," and that "you're not going to lock me up."

He broke away from police and ran down High street, across the terrace in front of the postoffice, and through an alley in the rear of the court house. He was "out-footing" Borough Police Officer Albert L. Wolford, and the officer drew his gun and fired two shots in the air, but this failed to halt Nelson. He eluded his pursuer.

Wolford contacted other members of the police department. Chief Robert C. Harpster and Wolford commandeered a taxicab to comb the borough. Officers C. William Zhea and Charles W. Culp, Jr., took another cab to the jail, where they transferred to the police car, and joined the search.

Caught In Cornfield

On the Fairfield road Culp and Zhea saw a man standing at the side of the road apparently attempting to hitch-hike a ride. When he saw the police car, he jumped a fence and started running across a cornfield.

Officer Culp drew his gun and covered Nelson. Officer Zhea circled to stay out of Culp's line of fire and approached Nelson from the side. Nelson attempted to grapple with Zhea, and the latter struck him with his gun barrel. Nelson went down.

The fact that, through force of habit, Zhea fastened the flap of his holster probably saved his and Officer Culp's life. When Zhea reached down to pick Nelson from the ground, the latter reached for a handful of earth, and threw it at Zhea's eyes. Then Nelson grappled with Zhea, and attempted to seize the gun and wrest it from the holster. At the same time he bit Zhea severely on the hand, making it necessary for Zhea later to go to the hospital for treatment.

Battles In Jail

Culp and Zhea took Nelson to the police car where, with the assistance of an employee of the state garage, the prisoner was handcuffed. The officers took him to the jail.

Officer Wolford went to the jail to search the prisoner. When the handcuffs were removed, Nelson rushed the officer, attempted to prevent the contents of his pockets being taken from him, and grabbed one piece of paper before he could be stopped and swallowed it. He was placed in solitary confinement.

Charges will be laid before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

College Gets New Play Hall

Gettysburg college will have a new recreational building to replace the fire-damaged SCA building for the entertainment of the 1,100 students on the campus, and it will be available January 1. This announcement was made this morning by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president.

The application for a recreational building for the local institution was approved by the Federal Security Agency and announcement of its action was wired to Doctor Hanson this morning by Dr. William H. Coleman, head of the educational department of the Agency.

The new building will be one story in height and will be 97 feet long and 37 feet wide. It will be erected on the campus between Glatfelter Hall and the old Sigma Chi fraternity house. The building will be shipped here, completely furnished, from the air base at Richmond, Va.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Although the Pilgrims originally instituted Thanksgiving Day it was Abraham Lincoln who in 1863 declared the first annual national Thanksgiving Day after a lapse of some 40 years.

George Washington declared the first official Thanksgiving in 1789 on behalf of established government, but it was not until 1815 that the festival was again revived on a national scale by President Madison. Then for almost a half century there were no more Presidential proclamations regarding Turkey Day. It remained for Lincoln to preserve this holiday as a national, annual event. Presidential proclamations for this day have been issued ever since.

When we stop to think how many persons claim to be descendants of the Mayflower pilgrim fathers, we have to pause and contemplate how many stowaways must have ridden over to this country on the good old ship. The passenger list found in the Encyclopedia Americana shows 41 men, plus their families and a few servants. Only 102 people in all.

In proclaiming Thanksgiving Day this year Governor Martin said:

"Great, indeed, is the progress made by the American people since the time—three centuries and more ago—that our forefathers came to this new land to escape old world oppression."

School Reporters At York Meeting

Over 300 high school newsmen and women representing 19 schools in York and Adams counties met Tuesday to thresh out journalistic problems and discover what was happening in scholastic press circles.

Mt. Rose junior high school, York, played host to the 28th meeting of the York-Adams district of the Pennsylvania School Press association, and a group of York newspapermen aided in the discussions of news problems and policies.

A dinner in the school cafeteria and a dance in the auditorium, with the Red Lion high school orchestra providing the music, wound up the convention.

Dale H. Gramley, associate editor of the Bethlehem Globe-Times, keynoted the general meeting with a brief talk on the importance of working on school publications.

The general assembly of delegates was followed by sectional meetings on varied topics.

Among the schools represented were: Littlestown, Biglerville and New Oxford.

SIX DIRECTORS ARE NAMED BY LIBRARY BODY

With 46,900 book loans made, 110 distributing centers set up and more than 10,000 books on its shelves, the Adams County Free Library association found at its annual meeting Tuesday evening it had done "very well" in the first 11 months of its existence but it was pointed by President O. H. Benson to higher goals and a more expansive program.

The association heard an address by Miss Katherine Shorey, York, president of the Pennsylvania Library Association, and elected six directors during the evening session in the court house at which officers' annual reports were received.

"Good service, cheerfully and well given; good leadership, a good staff, proper housing and equipment and a good collection of books," were listed by Miss Shorey as requisites of "adequate library service." The speaker urged special attention by libraries to meeting industrial, economic, occupational and racial needs of their communities. "It is possible to lead people to use books far beyond the limits of their conscious needs for reading material," Miss Shorey asserted.

Six Directors Named

She also recommended that libraries consider auxiliary services such as music records with listening rooms, sections for the blind and special exhibits.

The association re-elected these directors for three-year terms: J. Willis Beidler, Biglerville, now treasurer of the association; Mrs. Harold Lerew, York Springs; Mrs. Charles Gentzler, East Berlin; D. E. Winebrenner, New Oxford, and Mrs. J. R. Riden, Littlestown. Stanislaus Krichen, was elected as a new member from McSherrytown. The election followed the adoption of the report of the nominating committee.

Gettysburg's youngsters and oldsters will have a chance to exercise their dancing skill Thanksgiving evening at a free public dance to be held in the Hotel Gettysburg annex from 8 until 11 o'clock in the evening.

"Since the closing of the Teen-canteen Gettysburg youths have not had the opportunity to enjoy themselves at community dances given expressly for them," Paul Miller, Halloween committee chairman said today. "The Halloween committee had some money left over after the Halloween affair and we decided that the best way to use the money was to provide a dance of the type for which the young folks had been asking." Dick Feeser's orchestra will play.

Borough Police Appointed Agency In Coal Crisis To Conserve Dwindling Supply

Burgess C. A. Heiges today named the Gettysburg police department as an emergency agency with power to act in the current coal shortage.

The appointment of the police as an emergency agency came as a result of a telegram from Richard Maize, fuel conservator for Pennsylvania, to the burgess.

Maize said in his telegram:

"In the face of a critical coal shortage I am asking for your full cooperation in the matter of conserving coal. Except for the local stocks of coal now held by consumers, retail dealers and on commercial docks, there is available for emergency distribution less than two days' production of bituminous coal. The supply of this coal will soon be exhausted unless the most prudent use of such coal as is now available in your community is exercised.

Supply Governs Power

"You should determine promptly whether available coal stocks in your community should be conserved by dim-out closing or restricting amusement places, closure of schools or the curtailment of power for industrial purposes.

"Keep in mind this situation is serious. I suggest that the

$10,000 LOSS AT BLAZE IN ABBOTTSTOWN

Ellis H. Stambaugh, owner of an Abbottstown garage which was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon, today estimated damage to the three story garage, the three cars destroyed with it, and to the equipment also consumed in the holocaust at approximately $10,000.

All that remained of the structure after the blaze were the concrete block walls of the basement part of the building and Stambaugh said he feared that even those blocks would be unusable in rebuilding operations.

In addition to the Stambaugh garage, the fire also destroyed a frame barn on the property of Minnie Emlen occupied by Miss Edna Hoke adjacent to the garage.

Stambaugh said he had been working Tuesday about noon on a car owned by Charles Auckey, Abbottstown. There was a dead cell in the battery of the Auckey car and he attached a booster battery to the vehicle in order to start it. While the wires were attached Stambaugh was talking to his brother, G. Marion Stambaugh, manager of the Farm Bureau house.

Caused By Battery

According to Stambaugh's story, as the two men moved about in the garage the wires attaching the booster battery to the car were accidentally pushed against a can of thinner. The heat from the battery cables cut through the can, setting the thinner afire. The blazing liquid spilled out across the wood floor of the two year old structure.

The Stambaughs seized a fire extinguisher in an attempt to put out the flames which just about that time reached some cans of paint setting them afire. Realizing the extinguisher was useless E. H. Stambaugh said.

It was enroute to Santiago, Chile, from Buenos Aires, Argentine, at the time of the crash. Nine persons, including four passengers and five crewmen were aboard. None was killed. The plane was burned. The injured were taken to Mendoza hospital in Argentine.

Sgt. Clark is married to the former Miss Dorothy Orner, of Bendersville, who lives in Curundu, Canal Zone. She has been an employee of the government for the past three years.

On Monday evening, November 25, Sergeant Clark's parents received a telegram from the Secretary of War stating that their son, Sgt. D. E. Clark, was injured in a plane crash in Argentine and is in a serious condition in the Mendoza hospital.

FIND PEACE IN CHRIST ASSERTS C.E. SPEAKER

"If we are to live victoriously, if we are to find peace in the world, we must find it in Christ," the Rev. Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, Chambersburg, secretary of the board of directors of the state Christian Endeavor told 60 members of the Adams County Christian Endeavor Union gathered in the Shetter house, Chambersburg street, Tuesday evening for a Thanksgiving Booster banquet.

"Our country was built on faith in God," he added, "look at our patriotic hymns. 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' ends in a devout prayer. The 'Star Spangled Banner,' 'America the Beautiful' all are based on belief in God and all become prayers, and show belief in God."

Centered In Church

Speaking of Christian Endeavor he told the group: "Christian Endeavor is great because it is Christ-centered and church-centered. In fact CE is so centered in the church that it is ready to sacrifice itself if that best serves the interests of the church. Yet while CE is centered in the local church it is also wider than any local church or denomination. It provides a way to cross denominational lines and groups, and helps do a job that is too big for any one denomination."

Kenneth Beam, Gardners, president of the Adams county union, was toastmaster. The invocation was given by the Rev. Harold V. March, Gettysburg. Paul Hurley, Duncannon, president of District 12, which includes Adams and six other counties in the state, spoke briefly as did the Rev. Mr. March.

FIRE COMPANY MOVES TO GET EQUIPMENT AND BETTER ROSTER

The Gettysburg Fire company, smarting under the whiplash of criticism of the manner in which the disastrous fire which destroyed the SCA building on the college campus was handled last Saturday, took the first steps, at a special meeting in the engine house Tuesday night, to clean up its own house, at the same time answering what it termed as unjust criticism of matters beyond its control in connection with the fire.

Out of a multitude of suggestions emerged these definite steps:

On motion of Secretary Raymond Menges, the appointment by President James B. Aumen of a committee composed of officers of the company and the chief and first and second chiefs to go over the rolls of the company, cull its ranks, and get men willing to go to fires and work at them.

Want Fire School

Appointment of a committee to arrange for a fire school, with an outside instructor, to set up an efficient fire fighting organization "so that everyone knows his job and does it." This motion was made by Philip Jones and adopted.

Appointment of a committee to recommend to the borough council the immediate purchase of new hose for the fire company, and ways and means of purchasing the hose.

The appointment of a committee to investigate and report to the company at its next regular meeting on the acquisition of a new aerial ladder truck. The author of this motion was Secretary Menges.

Appointment of another committee, on motion of Edward Culp, to investigate, with the idea in mind of purchasing equipment with which to fight gasoline fires.

Personnel of Committees

Personnel of these committees, as designated by the president, is as follows:

Committee to "cull" the roster for active and willing men: officers of the company, the chief and assistant chiefs.

Committee to arrange for a fire school: Philip Jones, Edward Culp, Paul Oyley.

Committee on new hose: (In addition to three members previously named at another meeting) Philip Jones, William G. Weaver, Donald C. Stallsmith, Daniel Wolfe, James

BROWNOUT IS MORE GENERAL

Gettysburg's observance of the "brownout" regulations Tuesday night, the second night since the directive became effective, was almost 100 per cent. There were very few outdoor advertising signs or store windows lighted in the entire borough.

Many persons did not know of the brownout order Monday night, when it went into effect at 6 p. m. There was a general appreciation of the seriousness of the coal situation shown Tuesday, however, and an appreciation of the efforts to conserve coal through saving electric current. This resulted in a more general compliance.

Gettysburg's compliance, even on Monday night, when there were 23 "violators" noted in the downtown section, was considerably better than in many other cities.

The Metropolitan Edison company today appealed for cooperation in observance of the brownout regulations, and warned that if the situation becomes worse, further and more drastic limitations will be placed on the use of electricity, under the federal order.

NEARBY INN OPENS UNDER NEW MANAGER

The Lee-Meade Inn on the Gettysburg-Emmitsburg highway a short distance from Gettysburg, open under new management and completely redecorated, will have its formal opening to the public Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Norman W. Ream, former Harrisburg automobile salesman and sales agency owner, is the new proprietor and manager of the inn. Mr. Ream purchased the property in April from Joseph Chamberlain, who had owned it for the past 15 years. During the war it was used by the government mapping project.

Mr. Ream said the inn has been remodeled throughout and numerous changes made. He said it would be a "one-stop resting place for tourists, serving all styles of foods prepared by experienced chefs, and in addition would cater to banquets, conventions and private parties.

Trailer Park
"We hope also to make the Lee-Meade Inn an outstanding place for the people of Gettysburg and surrounding towns. Our policy is embodied in our slogan, 'A Place Where It's Nice to be Nice.'"

The dining room is called the Patriotic Room, and the decorative motif is in colors of red, white and blue. Scenes from the Winchester hunt decorate the grill. The inn has 16 rooms in the main building, and 18 cottages. Mr. Ream said he hopes to make it "one of the largest trailer parks in the east." He has 30 acres which he intends to prepare for this purpose, he said.

Rooms at the inn have been newly equipped and furnished. Dinners will be served Sundays.

May Use Screenings
The Victor Products plant was described as having enough coal on hand to last for the next two or three weeks and it is expected that if the coal strike does not end in the near future the company will be able to do as it did in previous strikes—add screenings to the present coal in order to extend the period of operation for an even longer period of time.

C. Arthur Brame, manager of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage company, said there is enough coal on hand at that plant to last until December 25 and that by "piecing out with whatever may be available" the plant could probably continue running into the first of next year.

Industries using electric power in large quantities, such as the Gettysburg Throwing company so far have apparently heard nothing concerning any proposed cut down in electric power. Robert Berkheimer, head of the Throwing company said that he had received no word so far from the electric power company concerning any possible curtailment of electricity.

Cars Crash In

Lime Dust Cloud

A curtain of lime dust across the Emmitsburg road a mile south of Gettysburg caused an accident Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock in which one person was injured, one was arrested and damage to the two cars involved totaled $550.

State police who investigated said that Mrs. Ida S. Trimmer, 66, Harrisburg was driving south on the road when lime dust from a field in which trucks were unloading lime blew across the highway. Mrs. Trimmer unable to see, slowed her car. David H. Kreider, 40, Palmyra, whose car was following that of Mrs. Trimmer, was said by police to have entered the curtain of lime dust without slowing down. Kreider's car struck the rear of the Trimmer vehicle.

A charge of following too closely was placed against Kreider before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore by state police. The injured person was Charles Gingrich, 50, Palmyra, an occupant of the Kreider car who suffered a laceration of the forehead in the accident. He was treated by Dr. Robert Lefever.

SEEK TO DENY MARCANTONIO CONGRESS SEAT

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—A quiet move is underway to deny a seat in the new Congress to Vito Marcantonio of New York city, it was learned today with disclosure that a Congressional committee is investigating his election to the House.

The move has the backing of Rep. John E. Rankin (D-Miss.), who has crossed verbal swords with Marcantonio on many occasions during the latter's 10 years in Congress as an American Labor Party representative.

Rankin told reporters "it is probable" a resolution to deny a seat to Marcantonio will be offered when the new House convenes January 3. He declined to say whether he personally would offer it but indicated the challenge will be based on the New Yorker's political affiliations and activities.

"Communist Mouthpiece"
Holding both American Labor and Democratic nominations, Marcantonio was reelected November 5 over Republican Frederick Bryan despite support for Patrick J. Hannigan, who lost the Democratic nomination to Marcantonio in the August primary.

Appealing for his friends to vote for Bryan, Hannigan said he had entered the primary against Marcantonio "solely for the purpose of driving from public office the Communist forces in this country."

A majority vote of the House can deny a seat to any member-elect, and for any reason. Any member may offer a resolution either denying him his office or denying the right to sit pending an investigation by a House committee.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) of the House Campaign investigating committee told reporters the committee wants to find out whether the fatal beating of Joseph Scaterreggio shortly before the polls opened was part of a plan to intimidate voters. Scaterreggio was a poll worker for Bryan.

KILLED AUNT BY SCALDING

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 27 (AP)—

Neal H. Keough, 33-year-old former inmate of a mental institution, was under a heavy guard today charged with murder in the death of his aged aunt who died of burns inflicted when a bucket of scalding water was poured over her.

Police Inspector James C. Riley said Keough first told police he poured the boiling water over Mrs. Georgianna Senn, 86-year-old paralytic, "to put her out of her misery."

Riley said Keough later told him in a statement that he had brought his aunt a cup of coffee and that she complained about the coffee.

Riley quoted Keough as saying he then went into the kitchen and boiled a bucket of water and returned to his aunt. "She was screaming but I let her have the whole bucketful," Riley quoted Keough as saying.

"She was old and sick," Riley said Keough told him. "I figured that if I finished her off, then she would be out of her misery. When she got tough about the coffee, I decided that it was time to put her out of this world."

Neighbors heard Mrs. Senn's screams after the water-pouring episode yesterday and rushed to her aid, but she died three hours later at a hospital.

GREEKS FLEE FROM TERROR

Athens, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Foreign Ministry announced today the Yugoslav government had informed the Greek Minister in Belgrade that Yugoslavia was strengthening her forces along the frontier because large numbers of Greeks were "seeking refuge from terror" in Northern Greece.

The announcement coincided with dispatches from Salonika which said a new battle had broken out in Macedonia. Greek third army headquarters said 600 members of a "Communist" band from newly established Leftist headquarters on Mount Jena had occupied the villages of Mavron and Mandhalon, 10 miles northwest of Edessa.

This action was from 29 to 25 miles southwest of the scene of recent clashes on the Skra-Notia front, not far from the Yugoslav border. Reinforcements were being moved in from Edessa and planes were thrown into the mounting battle, the Army said.

Associated Press Correspondent Joseph C. Goodwin reported from Salonika that the Partisans controlled both Mavron and Mandhalon after an all day fight, and that the fate of two Greek platoons in Mavron was unknown.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
A Lesson In Conservation

We were sitting on Bill Webster's porch the other night, chatting over a glass of beer—when the talk turns to forest preservation, soil erosion, and other things that affect a farming community.

Judge Cunningham speaks up: "It's all right to worry about conserving our natural resources," he says, "but there's a far bigger problem when it comes to conservation—and that's preserving our democratic way of life, our sense of personal freedom, our respect for one another's rights."

Whenever you see or hear of an encroachment on our rights—whether it's the right to free speech, or the right to vote as we see fit, or the right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer in licensed, law-abiding places... watch out!

Lebanon Valley Will Oppose Bullet Eleven In Final As Thanksgiving Day Attraction

While turkey dishes will be the favorite fare of most everyone on Thanksgiving Day, the Gettysburg college gridders would prefer a touchdown feast at the expense of Lebanon Valley college when the teams clash on Memorial Field at 2 o'clock.

The Turkey Day contest will ring down the curtain on the season for both schools.

Coach "Hen" Bream made this statement today: "The team is in good physical condition but I am frankly worried about the mental attitude of the squad. The boys apparently are taking the game lightly. I truthfully look for a stiff battle. From everything I have been able to learn about Lebanon Valley they can be counted upon to give us a tough scrap the whole way."

Without Home Victory
There are plenty of incentives for victory in the Bullet camp. Home fans have failed to see the Breams win a single clash this year, all three Bullet wins having been gained on foreign soil. Snapping the home ground losing streak will be one aim for the Orange and Blue.

Another aim will be blasting what Lebanon Valley has boasted as one of the strongest defensive teams in its history. Only five touchdowns have been made against it and only Youngstown college was able to score more than one six-pointer against the Dutchmen, gained a 20-6 decision. Moravian and Mount St. Mary's, both of whom were easy victims, each tabbed a single touchdown.

The Annville lads have played seven games, winning four, losing two and tying another. Against this the Bullets show three wins against five setbacks.

With the exception of Les Ginnani, guard, and Bob Hart, end, both of whom will miss the game due to injuries, the squad is in good physical condition.

Four Bullet Seniors
The tilt will mark the close of the collegiate career for Leo Krupa, end. Other seniors on the squad are Co-Captains Jim Lewis, tackle, and Bill Hartman, guard, and Hart who will not see action due to injuries.

Coach Bream announced his starting lineup probably will include Cauffman and Krupa, ends; Schlegel and Joy, tackles; Morris and Smith, guards; Rooksandic, center; Wileman, Rambo, Kreider and Cervino, backs.

Outstanding for Coach Feeser's Dutchmen all season have been his star tackles, Paul Mateyk and Hank Schmalzer, and Ben Waslewski, center. Hank DiJohnson, fullback, and Pete Gamber have been the ace ball toters for Lebanon Valley.

Other starters for the Dutchmen will be Webb and Roman, ends; Keeler and Gage, guards, Jones and Bowman, backs.

First Arrivals For Baseball Meet

Los Angeles, Nov. 27 (AP)—Baseball big-wigs began trickling in today for the combined Minor-Major League winter meetings starting here next week.

Judge W. G. Bramham, Durham, N. C., president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, was scheduled to join others on the scene, including President Thomas Richardson of the Eastern League; Earl Mann, Atlanta, Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics; and J. Walter Morris, president of the East Texas and Evangeline Leagues.

Here And There

sion. Here God-fearing men and women overcame the hardship and danger of a wilderness; here they found freedom to worship as they saw fit; here, on the first Thanksgiving Day, they gave thanks for an abundant crop, for freedom and for safety.

"In the spirit of the pioneers, the citizens of these United States have preserved their sacred liberty. By Divine favor we were recently granted victory over aggressor nations. Our country was victorious in history's most terrible war. We now pray that all the peoples of the world shall be drawn more closely together and shall live henceforth in peace.

"Let us be thankful for our heritage of freedom, won by the pioneers and preserved through the sacrifice of American lives in various wars, and for the faith that has complemented the material advancement of the United States of America."

There are many things for which we should be grateful. The past year has been a good one and most of us have shared in the bounties that this great nation has made possible. Misfortune has come to some, that is inevitable, but by and large the bigger and the better things in life have been ours because as Americans we live in a free nation, blessed with more things than any other nation in the world. Let us all give thanks for all those nice things and above all else do not forget who has made all these things possible.

George Connor Lineman Of Week

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Notre Dame's George Connor, who has been playing a bangup game all season, finally has been nominated as lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

An All-America tackle candidate, Connor earned the honor this week for his play in the Notre Dame-Tulane game at New Orleans. Southern sports writers said he dominated a great Notre Dame line that "shoved the Greenies all over the field and just couldn't be moved on defense."

SELLOUT CROWD WILL SEE PENN, CORNELL BATTLE

Philadelphia, Nov. 27 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania—clawed by the Princeton Tiger and finally flung into football obscurity by the Black Knights of Army—today winds up training for its Thanksgiving Day meeting with a Cornell eleven that hopes to emerge with Ivy League honors.

A sellout crowd of 78,000 was expected to witness the 53rd renewal of the Penn-Cornell series which finds the Ithaca team coming to Penn's Franklin field a far greater threat than last year when the Red and Blue romped to a 59 to 6 victory.

The Big Red—with victories over Columbia, Dartmouth and Princeton and a tie with Yale—can win the Ivy League championship by conquering Penn.

Last For McKeever
Cornell has further incentive for winning in addition to its championship aspirations—tomorrow's game will be the last at the Big Red Helm for Coach Ed McKeever, who announced his resignation yesterday.

McKeever, who formerly coached at Texas Tech—his Alma Mater—Boston college and wartime Notre Dame, leaves Cornell after two seasons in which his team won five games in nine starts last year and has tallied five wins, one tie and two losses this season.

Two of Penn's players suffered injuries in pre-Cornell game scrimmage this week. Halfback Bob Deuber, who has been fighting an injury jinx all season, sprained his knee on Monday and probably will not see action against Cornell.

Quarterback Carmen Falcone came out of the same scrimmage with a cut eye but is expected to start tomorrow. Other Penn backfield starters will be Don Schneider at tailback, Skippy Minisi at wingback and Eddie Allen at fullback.

FIRST MEETING OF ARMY-NAVY SHARP CONTRAST

By LEE LINDER
Philadelphia, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Army quarterback yelled "battery left wheel," "column right" and the Cadet ball carrier sliced off tackle behind the interference.

With Navy in possession, the middle signal caller shouted "rise tacks and sheets, let go and overhaul the weather lifts"—and his teammates knew he meant a flying wedge.

That was Army-Navy football 56 years ago when the two service teams met for the first time one frosty November afternoon on the slippery plains of West Point in a classic that today is girdiron's greatest show.

The first skirmish, back in 1890, excited no one. A lone reporter from a New York paper stood with 500 shivering spectators on the roped-in field and watched a hastily-assembled Army team lose 24-0 to more experienced Navy.

This Saturday, however, more than 300 newsmen and 100 photographers will diagnose every play in the 103,000-seat Municipal stadium. This Army has the experience, while Navy—loser of seven straight after edging Villanova in its opener—is still trying to assemble a winning squad.

No Admission Charge
Some members of the first two teams may be on hand for the 1946 version—likely sitting where the gold braid is thickest. They'll remember that the Cadets "chipped" in 52 cents each in 1890 to pay the expenses of the invading Midshipmen. There was no admission charge.

The lucky 103,000 who'll witness the 46th clash will pay around $450,000 for the privilege. And doubtless many times that number would be on hand if seats were available. Army has won 24 times in the series, Navy 19 with three ties.

The captain of the first West Point team was Dennis Michie, later killed at San Juan Hill during the Spanish-American War, and it is after him that the academy's field is named.

Navy played football prior to 1890, but Army officials opposed the game as detrimental to discipline. Finally, however, Michie won over the academy's governing board—headed, incidentally, by his father, Col. Peter S. Michie—and baited the Midshipmen into accepting a challenge.

Michie won revenge for the Soldiers' initial loss by taking a team to Annapolis in 1891 and winning 32-16.

Navy won the next two years in contests that were played alternately on the home grounds of the service schools. But as enthusiasm grew so did animosity—and when a retired rear admiral challenged a brigadier general to a duel the Secretaries of War and Navy cancelled the game for five years.

In 1899 the ban was lifted and the Cadets met the Midshipmen on Philadelphia's Franklin Field not because it happened to be neutral territory but because, as the Army explained years later, "the service schools were unable to meet the demand for tickets on home grounds."

This was the first big-time crowd—25,000—and Army won, 17-5.

Even so the game was still free to spectators—though admittance was "by invitation only." However, since both teams were forced to travel to the Quaker City the Navy reported "the question of charging for tickets came up."

Commented Commander William F. (Bull) Halsey, then secretary of the Navy Athletic Association: "The University of Pennsylvania (Franklin Field belonged to Penn) when issuing complimentary tickets found as we are finding that their position grew more intolerable each year. In 1903, they determined to sell tickets and after deducting the necessary expenses, to devote the net receipts to the charities of the Army and Navy. Have been informed by those having the matter in hand that the result has been most satisfactory, and the troublesome questions involved when complimentary tickets were issued have entirely disappeared."

Penn officials had complained that

Bobcat Retains Title, Defeats Wesley Mouzon
Philadelphia, Nov. 27 (AP)—The 27-year-old Bobcat Bob Montgomery always wins the fight that counts when the chips are down.

He did it again last night by stiffening whirlwind Wesley Mouzon, a 19-year-old streak of dark brown lightning, in eight rounds to hang onto his half of the world lightweight championship, just when everyone figured he was all washed up.

Afterwards Montgomery was grinning in his dressing room and chiding some of those who had thought Whirlwind Wesley would knock him out in two rounds—as he did last August.

"Still The Champ"
"A lot of you guys said I was all washed up, and one more fight and I'd go into business," he reminded, "but here I am—still the champ."

Indeed he did prove himself champ—champion of the lightweight world bounded by New York and Pennsylvania, and not to be confused with the other, or National Boxing Association, half where Ike Williams, the Transatlantic Traveler from Trenton, N. J., has the official blessing.

Bob proved it before 12,416 customers who paid $85,414 for tickets and jammed Montgomery Hall to the rafters. It was the biggest indoor fight gate in Quaker City swatting history.

Was Grudge Fight
Promoters had built this one up as a grudge match, from ill feeling accumulated since last August's short-and-sweet scramble, and it turned out to be exactly as advertised. The two went at it as if they were going to knock each other's heads off. Wesley took the first three rounds on his speed and jabs. Bob slowed Mouzon down with body blows, softened him up with rights, and finally caught the roof in with a long left hook at 2:18 of the eighth.

Mouzon was surprisingly light last night at 132½. Montgomery weighed 135 on the button.

Van Buren Second In Yardage Score
New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles is moving up on Pittsburgh's Bill Dudley in an attempt to regain the National Football League ball-carrying championship he won in 1945.

Dudley is leading with a total of 553 yards in 136 attempts, but Van Buren picked up 130 yards in the Eagles' losing battle with Washington Sunday to advance from sixth to second place with an aggregate of 443.

Although the time is short for Van Buren to retain the title he won last year with 832 yards, he has an advantage over Dudley in that the Steelers have only one more contest while the Eagles still have two games to play.

TIDWELL LEADS GROUND GAINERS
New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Although his team has lost its last six games, Travis Tidwell of Auburn again is the individual offensive leader today among the nation's college football players.

The yearling workhorse recaptured the lead from Bobby Layne of Texas as Auburn went down to a 31-13 defeat.

Statistics released by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau today show that Tidwell, who has thrown or carried the ball 305 times in nine games, has gained a total of 1,470 yards.

Layne was idle last week but holds second place with his total of 1,285 yards. Bob Chappuis of Michigan came up from seventh place to take over the third spot with 1,265 yards, 271 of them racked up last week when the Wolverines slaughtered Ohio State, 58-6, in their finale.

Harry Gilmer of Alabama jumped from sixth to fourth, swapping places with Charley Trippi of Georgia, and Rudy (Little Doc) Mobley of Hardin-Simmons held on to fifth place in total offense.

Forrest Hall of San Francisco, who already has established a new record for kickoff returns, boosted that mark to 573 yards on 16 run-backs by returning one for 25 yards against Wyoming.

after giving away their 10,000 tickets, 20,000 persons who couldn't be accommodated became enemies. Army and Navy likewise reported the same trouble after distribution of their 10,000-ticket allotment.

Saturday's fracas will be the 26th in Philadelphia—the eighth in Municipal stadium. The 1905 game was played in Princeton, N. J.

New York, Baltimore and Chicago played host to the classic prior to 1927 when eligibility differences caused a break in relations between the academies. But public clamor and an urge to aid charity brought Army and Navy together again in 1930—in New York—for the Red Cross.

Army is odds-on favorite to extend its unbeaten streak to 27 against the Midshipmen.

Today's Talk

BOOKS AS BRIDGES

In my recent reading I came across the statement that books were bridges. That statement seemed to me as so true. Yes, books are bridges that take one over many a difficult pass in life.
They have, indeed, often taken one into so much that heretofore had been unknown that one might say that they have been more than bridges—in fact, great guides.

Guides to knowledge, to a better understanding with various peoples, to peace of mind, and to serenity of soul. There are books for every mood and for every occasion. I recently came across this brief bit by the famous Thomas A. Kempis:

"I have sought rest everywhere and found it not—Save in little books,
and little books."

It is often in the little books that we find the biggest thoughts and the greatest consolation. Take the New Testament, for example
"The River," by Rumer Godden, and "Hiroshima," by John Hersey are little books, but how big in thought and meaning! Veritable bridges to an intelligent understanding and to a wider appreciation of life's values.

One of the great book events of modern history was when Darwin's "Origin of Species" appeared. It took many a one across an intellectual bridge at the time, and has taken millions over since! And this could be said of an endless number of other books that have influenced thought in the world. Shakespeare, Montaigne, Voltaire, Hugo, Dante, Homer, Frazer names that live—book bridges of the world!

Millions have read that small book by Michael Fairless "The Road-mender" and they have crossed a bridge into a happier spiritual existence, because of it.

I recently read that over 70,000 people daily cross the great bridge that spans San Francisco, to Oakland, California—but more than that number daily cross the bridge of the Bible to a freer, happier understanding, and to a clearer understanding of God and this wonderful world! To the distracted and bewildered I would say: Why not use this bridge, cross over, and learn of the life triumphant?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Miracle of Opportunity."

Just Folks

TURKEY
Time was—and not so long ago—
The turkey was a special treat.
A feast we waited long to know
And second helpings all could eat.
The children begged the drumsticks then;
The wishbone was a joy to clutch;
But now Thanksgiving nears
again,
Of turkey we have had too much.

The glamor from the bird has gone.
No longer children with delight
Behold the turkey coming on.
No more it stirs the appetite.
So much we've had the whole year through,
The zest for it has flown away.
Gone are the happier times we knew.
When turkeys ruled Thanksgiving Day.

It holds no more the lure of old.
'Tis commoner than chops
today.
It's served at banquets, hot and cold,
And every culinary way.
The charm has gone from turkey wings,
As food, a steak is now preferred.
Thanksgiving Day no longer brings
A welcome to that grand old bird.

Stars: Candidates for the basketball team of the Albert J. Lentz post, American Legion, held their second workout Friday night and convinced Manager Lawrence Oyler that the local post will have a quintet on the floor this year that "will be a credit to Gettysburg and the Legion post alike." More than thirty candidates have turned out for the first two workouts in the Hotel Gettysburg annex.

Most likely candidates for the first team, it is said are "Hen" Bream, Fred G. Pfeiffer, Lawrence Sheads, Fred Haehnlein and Ralph Stover.
Other candidates include Paul Spangler, Bill Weaver, Ted Jennings, "Doc" Wickerham, Sergeant Alderson, Herb Grimm, Lawrence
Oyler, George Boehner, Dorsey Rebert and others.

Personal Mention: Miss Edith Minter, East Middle street, was the guest of Miss Tulla Hagen in Lancaster over Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spangler, daughters, Misses Ruth and Helen, Chambersburg street, were dinner guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. M.
C. Jones, of Hanover.

NATION REELS UNDER EFFECTS OF COAL STRIKE

By ELAINE KAHN

Pittsburgh, Nov. 27 (AP)—A partly dimmed-out nation today reeled under the growing impact of its second major coal stoppage within a year as unemployment in related industries hit 70,000 and there were indications 200,000 to 250,000 workers would be idle by next week.

All phases of life felt the effects of the soft coal walkout. Schools from faraway Denver to Philadelphia closed heatless buildings; 70,- 000 steel, railroad and river workers were thrown out of work; 60,000 citizens in Provo, Utah, pleaded for coal to warm their houses; and 21 states observed "brownouts" more drastic than those imposed in wartime.

Conditions To Worsen
There were predictions of worse things to come if the nation's 400,- 000 bituminous miners continue their seven-day walkout.

Irving S. Olds, chairman of the Board of U. S. Steel Corp., the country's leading steel producer, last night said coal stocks in company plants are almost non-existent and operations "already materially reduced, will soon come to a virtual standstill."

In Atlanta, Ga., the manager of the Chamber of Commerce predicted 40,000 persons there will be out of work within a week if the coal walkout continues.

The Tri-State Industrial association predicted 100,000 employees in its steel fabricating plants in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio would also be idle within a week.
In a month, the association said, all 200,000 workers would be out of work.

New layoffs today included 27,- 000 industrial workers at Toledo, O.,
1,500 Norfolk and Western railroad employees, and 1,576 Virginia railway workers.

More Layoffs
In addition, the Youngstown, Ohio, Sheet and Tube Co. expected to lay off another 10,000 workers tomorrow and 3,600 Steelworkers at Birmingham, Ala., will be affected by the end of the week.

Utah, where the temperature yesterday was a chilly 33, was hardest hit by the coal stoppage. At Provo, the county commissioners and chamber of commerce, appealed to John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers to provide coal for the Ironton coking ovens which provide heat for the county's 60,000 citizens.
"The health and even the lives of some people will be jeopardized if heat in the homes is shut off as scheduled this week," the appeal said.

Many schools in the Pennsylvania soft coal regions were closing at noon today for the usual Thank-

$10,000 LOSS

baugh ran to his car and started to the square to call the Abbots-town fire company.

Gas Tanks Explode
By the time he reached the square, about a block and a half away,
he said he heard the gasoline tanks
at the garage exploding.

One car that was parked in the basement of the garage was pulled out by the Stambaughs but the Auckey car, an Oldsmobile owned by John Smith of McSherrystown and a car owned by Stambaugh, all on the main floor of the garage, were destroyed.

The frame barn on Miss Hoke's property contained several cords of firewood, nearly all of which was consumed.

Insurance only partially covered the loss, Stambaugh said, with a lot of new equipment, tires and the cars not covered by the insurance.

Call Other Companies

Abbotstown firemen, upon their arrival at the scene, called East Berlin and New Oxford companies for assistance. Buildings on the property of H. E. Shellenberger were threatened and firemen tore down a portion of a hog pen to allow the pigs to escape and then turned water on the buildings which were saved.

A pocketbook containing $20 belonging to Mac Komey, an employe of the garage, who was home for lunch, was destroyed. The pocketbook was in the mechanic's coveralls which he had left in the building.

To escape from the building E. H.
Stambaugh had to jump from the second floor. For a time members of the family feared that Gordon Stambaugh, a son of Mr. and Mrs.
E. H. Stambaugh, was trapped in the flames as he was accustomed to play about the garage and could not be found. Later, however, the youngster was located at the home of an aunt across the street.

The residence of J. Elmer Butt, immediately across Water street from the garage was also threatened by the flames.

giving holiday but did not plan to reopen next week unless the walkout is ended.

Blackheads too. No waiting.
Yes, it is true, there is a safe, taming, medicated liquid called KLEEREX that dries up pimples overnight as it acts to loosen and remove pimples. These who followed simple directions and applied Kleerex upon pimples were amazingly surprised when they found their pimples and blackheads had disappeared.
These men enthusiastically praise Kleerex and claim they are no longer embarrassed

DISEASE TAKES TENTH INFANT

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 27 (P)—A mysterious outbreak of an intestinal disease among infants had claimed its 10th victim today while health authorities vainly sought the cause of the epidemic.

Dr. J. T. Millington, county medical officer for the Pennsylvania state Department of Health, said all 10 of the infants who succumbed were born in the Nesbitt Memorial hospital in suburban Kingston and at least others of the 31 who contracted the disease also were born there.

The 10 other cases were reported by the West Side District Nurses Association and two physicians. The affected areas include largely mining communities.

Five of the victims died early in November, shortly after birth. Latest to succumb to the disease, which Dr. Millington said in all likelihood was infantile diarrhea, was Elizabeth Ann Shiner, who died yesterday. She was born November 8.

Kingsley Eckert, superintendent of Nesbitt hospital, said he was still trying to discover the source of the outbreak. He pointed out that the disease did not hit all children born at the hospital.

Shank, Edward Culp. The members previously named on a hose committee are Raymond Menges, Joseph E. Codori and James A. Aumen.

Committee on new ladder truck: William G. Weaver, Chief James A. Aumen, Assistant Chiefs Donald Jacobs and Raymond Bisbing, Philip Jones, D. C. Stallsmith, M. E. Crouse, Paul Oyer, Daniel Wolfe, Lawrence E. Oyer, Raymond Menges, Carl Oyer.

Committee on gasoline fire fighting equipment: Edward Culp, S. F. Swope, Richard Cole, Joseph Codori, James Shank, Alvin Bupp, Dorsey Rebert, A. E. Hutchinson, Herbert McKenrick, Raymond Spahr.

Firemen Neglect Fire Tuesday night's meeting was called to order by President Aumen, who asked Secretary Menges to state its purpose. The secretary explained many complaints had been heard relative to the handling of the fire.

"We didn't have the proper equipment," Secretary Menges said. "We need new hose. We also have a lot of firemen who neglect to attend fires. Many of them are new firemen, just admitted to membership in the company in the past few months."

Menges said that the fire company "looked like a bunch of monkeys out there Saturday trying to fight the fire. I don't know where the blame lies, but it's got to be remedied. If we don't, then somebody higher up will remedy it for us."

Menges cited that one member of the fire company drove past the burning building, but did not stop to help, saying that he was going hunting. He charged that there was "no organization" in the company.

Firemen Leave Scene Edward Culp, one of the drivers, declared that he was left alone at the fire to hook up to a fire hydrant, and another driver said his truck was left the same way. Culp said "There were 50 firemen around the fire but nobody at the truck to help me." He said he knew of at least six firemen who "took a look" at the fire and "went home."

Menges said that out of 125 men on the company rolls, only 25 were active at fires.

"At one time we had a fire school, and we had one of the best fire companies in the state," Culp said. "Now we have a lot of new men in the company, and we should instruct them in what to do." He and others declared that no blame should attach to Fire Chief James A. Aumen for circumstances which drew criticism.

Culp suggested that a state man or someone from Letterkenny be invited to instruct at a fire school. "A lot of the new men go to fires, get off the truck, grab a hose and don't know what to do then," he said.

Inactive Firemen Philip Jones declared that a lot of men are carried on the company's active rolls who should be placed in an inactive group.

"Everybody wants to go to a fire, but nobody wants to help," Chief Aumen said. He declared that there was more than one line at the fire last Saturday manned only by college students.

The question of water supply and pressure was also discussed. Culp said that there was 200 pounds of pressure at his truck, but only enough water at the nozzle to reach the roof, and that there was not enough water in the mains.

Referring to the need for new hose, Chief Aumen, Culp and others asserted that several lengths burst under pressure because it was old, and Aumen said that "we haven't got an extra section of hose to carry on the service truck at the present time."

Proper policing at fires was discussed and Culp said at the SCA fire he was forced to stop "150 cars" to keep them from running over the hose.

Will Test Hose "A truck was parked across the intersection on North Washington street, and they even drove, or tried to drive, around it," he said.

SIX DIRECTORS
presented by Dr. Robert A. Bream.
The board of directors will elect its officers at the December meeting the first Friday of the month.
Benson's "Challenge"
In his annual report as association president, Mr. Benson reviewed the work of the various committees in establishing the library and helping with its operation since January 6, expressed official thanks to all who helped and then spoke of "our challenge and our future."
He said in part: "We have made great progress but our greatest work lies ahead. We need an adequate budget so our expansion for larger and better service will be possible. Our efficient librarian (Miss Kathryn Oller) has done a fine and outstanding job and her assistant (Miss Edith Carbaugh) has been efficient, loyal and helpful to the cause. In these times of high costs of living, both must have salary increases."
"Let us help to make more books available for old and young. We must have more help so we can serve schools, towns, villages and book centers every two weeks instead of once a month as now."
Need To Own Quarters
"All our charter members should renew their memberships and we should have 2,000 new members, 300 group memberships and 200 life members."
"Our housing problem is again before us for the building we now occupy is for sale. By October 1, 1947, we should arrange through rent or purchase our library quarters." He closed with an appeal for continued cooperation in extending library service for the benefit of all of Adams county.
The librarian, Miss Oller, presented a printed report presenting library statistics since the library opened its doors last January 6. The report showed the library owns 8,427 books and has 1,900 on loan from the state. An additional 1,000 volumes is being asked from the state. In addition to the main library, there are branches at New Oxford, Abbotstown and Bendersville, 95 school book stations and 12 adult stations. Serving these 110 stations the bookmobile has traveled 2,745 miles.
The report of the treasurer showed the library with a balance of $648 as of November 26, after expenditures of $8,484 since its inception. School boards have contributed $252; the special children's book fund contains $710 in special gifts, and the bookmobile fund has drawn $363.63. Treasurer Beidler's report showed.
It was announced that Mrs. E. S. Lewars, vice president of the association, and Mrs. Lester O. Johnson, also a member of the board of directors, will head the 1947 membership campaign, succeeding Attorney Richard A. Brown who was chairman of the initial drive for members which netted more than 3,000 enrollments from many sections of the county.
Special Music
A male quartet from Gettysburg college sang these selections: "Some Day I'll Meet You Again," "Climbin' up the Mountain" and "Sentimental Journey."
Miss Oller introduced Miss Shorey who had been guest of honor at a dinner meeting of members of the board at 6 o'clock at the Shelter House.
Doctor Bream presented the Library with a copy of a history of "Fifty Years of Rural Mail Service" which was given the library by Walter Swisher, president of the Adams County Rural Carriers' association.

Pennsylvania Holds Key To Piping Of Gas To Ease Coal Shortage Crisis

EASEMENTS ON LAND CROSSED NEED CHANGES

By MARTIN H. BRACKBILL

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 27 (AP)—Pennsylvania's state government held the key today to whether the federally-owned $143,000,000 Big and Little Inch pipelines can be used to bring natural gas to the eastern seaboard in the present soft coal strike.

The governor's office said a check of the land easements given by the state when the lines were constructed showed many of them limited their use to petroleum and petroleum products.

"It would definitely require a change in the permits before they could be used for gas," a spokesman said.

Change Protested
Administration officials however were reluctant to discuss what action would be taken should a request come from the federal government for changes in the easements. No applications have been received so far.

Protests against the change were made several months ago by representatives of the United Mine Workers Union, the anthracite and bituminous industries and Pennsylvania railroad.

"No emergency conditions existed or were contemplated when the permits were made," explained Floyd Chalfant, state Commerce secretary and chairman of the anthracite committee, set up by the state to handle anthracite problems.

Question Up Monday
The anthracite committee will meet Monday in Pottsville and one source expected the entire question to be aired in light of the soft coal dispute.

D. L. Corgan, committee secretary, said "the coal industry, the miners and the railroads should not be penalized permanently because of the present situation."

"There was no talk of changing to plastics or some other metals when we had a steel strike," he added, stating use of the pipelines for gas on a permanent basis would be a disastrous blow to Pennsylvania's economy and would throw thousands out of jobs.

Easements for the pipelines across forests, state game lands, highways, rivers and other state property were granted by the state government as a war measure. Some limit the use of the pipelines to petroleum and petroleum products and others are only for the war's duration.

Frackville, Pa., Nov. 27 (AP)—Leonard Micum, seven-year-old son of Mrs. Julia Micum, was taken to Harrisburg General hospital after his illness was diagnosed Monday as infantile paralysis. It was the third case in Schuylkill county within 72 hours.

'Kilroy' Scribe Caught In Act

Norristown, Pa., Nov. 27 (AP)—"Kilroy was here," once too often, Valley Forge Park Superintendent L. Ralph Phillips reported a guard caught a youth in the act and brought a charge of defacing commonwealth property before a justice of the peace.

"I had followed him (Kilroy) all over Europe, across the Atlantic, through the processing buildings, at separation centers of the army to Valley Forge and at last I caught up to him," Phillips quoted the guard as saying.

659 Soft Coal Mines Operating

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Solid Fuels Administration reports 659 mines are still operating and producing 310,113 tons of soft coal daily despite the general shutdown in bituminous fields.

Their daily output, said SFA, represents only about one-seventh of the normal daily production of soft coal.

The pits are located principally in Appalachian and midwestern states. The SFA said 3,215 of the 28,007 men still at work are in central and western Pennsylvania. The men are either non-union or members of the Progressive union, rival of John L. Lewis' striking United Mine Workers.

Gasoline Truck Gets Away On Hill

Ridgeway, Pa., Nov. 27 (AP)—School children going home from school narrowly escaped being hit when a truck, loaded with 3,000 gallons of gasoline, raced down Boot-Jack Hill, out of control, here yesterday.

Dee Burfield of Du Bois, the driver stuck with the truck as it reached the foot of the hill, ripped through an iron fence, tore down part of Harry A. Hall's porch, knocked down a tree in his yard, and wound up against the side of the Samuel Murphy residence.

Then Burfield, dazed but only slightly injured, climbed out of the cab. He was brought to Ridgeway hospital for treatment.

Gasoline flowed freely from the wrecked truck but there was no fire.

TOLL BRIDGE CASE PENDING

Philadelphia, Nov. 27 (AP) — The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania had for study today the question of whether the state's plans for acquiring the 10 remaining privately-owned toll bridges in the Commonwealth are constitutional.

The high tribunal took the case under advisement yesterday.

In other actions, the court:

1. Heard an appeal by the Cheltenham and Abington Sewerage Co. from the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission's award of reparations to residents of the two Montgomery county townships. The appeal was taken under advisement.

2. Heard a fourth appeal on reinstatement of Mrs. Esther M. Jacobs of Wilkes-Barre township as a teacher. Mrs. Jacobs appealed a ruling of Luzerne county Common Pleas Court in favor of the township school board's contention that she vacated her contract by expanding a one-year leave of absence to two years.

3. Took under advisement an appeal from Fayette county which asked a decision on whether a local congregation can divorce or separate itself from a larger religious denomination retaining the congregational property. The lower court held the Church of God at Markleysburg, Pa., could not divorce or separate from the General Assembly of Church of God with headquarters at Cleveland, Tenn.

Pittsburgh To Have Rigid Enforcement

Pittsburgh, Nov. 27 (AP) — Public Works Director James S. Devlin today had the job of rigidly enforcing the soft coal area "brownout" order in Pittsburgh.

Devlin, appointed City Coordinator of Power Conservation by Mayor David L. Lawrence, said public and parochial schools have been notified to cut down on power consumption.

Police officers were instructed to warn persons using electricity improperly and to report names of persistent offenders. Devlin said violators will be subject to one or all of three penalties: suspension of current, fine or imprisonment.

Public buildings already have reduced electrical consumption 75 percent. Devlin said there would be "no change in street lighting for the present as the amount of our illumination is within the provisions of that order."

Francis Rabine with the Misses Regina Smith, Pauline A. Yingling, Lorraine O'Brien, Betty Hammer, Shirley O'Brien, Teresa Noel, Eleanor Miller and Joan Marie Smith.

The borough grade and high schools and St. Mary's Parochial school closed this afternoon for the annual Thanksgiving recess. Classes at the schools will resume on Monday morning.

The newborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith has been named Wayne Philip.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Eicholtz, with C. W. Cook, have returned from a trip to Philadelphia.

URGE PLANTING OF TREES. IN PA. WASTE AREAS

Harrisburg, Nov. 27 (AP) — The state Planning Board proposed today that the commonwealth take over the job of replanting with trees waste areas of the state and charge the cost against the future crop of the reclaimed area.

Offering the suggestion in a booklet on the state's forest resources, the board stated "the owner of such a tract would lose nothing and would stand to gain substantially in the future value of his land."

"Employment would be provided by the state in a profitable undertaking."

The board asserted the state's present forest output is inadequate to supply Pennsylvania's immediate needs for mine props, railroad ties, wood pulp and structural timber, and added:

"It is evident that the growing demand now existing for wood as a basis for industrial enterprise induces the future market of all the timber Pennsylvania can grow."

It urged better utilization of existing resources by an increased force of farm foresters to advise private timber owners and farmers how best to cut their trees and to help the cooperative local marketing of timber.

"There is little doubt that by the use of approved forest practices and the replanting of land not suited to agriculture, the state's forests can produce the bulk of the crop needed for its pulp mills, railroads, coal mines, and all its other wood-using industries, and that such industries could be very considerably expanded on the basis of Pennsylvania's own forest trees," the board stated.

It also suggested expansion of the state's nursery program to provide many more seedlings for replanting, establishment of forest camps for farm boys and girls and research and publicity in the correction of existing problems in forest waste.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27 (AP) — Constitutionality of Pennsylvania's plans for acquiring the 10 remaining privately-owned toll bridges in the commonwealth was placed before the State Supreme court Tuesday. Decision was reserved.

SEEK BETTER OBSERVANCE OF DIMOUT RULE

(By The Associated Press)

A number of Pennsylvania cities reported today only partial compliance with the government-ordered dimout to conserve soft coal during the miners' strike.

City officials in Philadelphia reported that many stores, night clubs and taprooms, both downtown and in the suburban areas, had permitted their lights to remain on after 6 p. m. Mon. night, the deadline fixed by federal mandate for starting curtailment of electric power.

In Wilkes-Barre, where anthracite is used almost exclusively for lighting purposes, a survey revealed that there was only about a 50 per cent compliance with the order.

At Harrisburg Governor Martin, acting at the request of U. S. Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, appointed State Mines Secretary Richard Maize as fuel conservator for Pennsylvania.

State Coordination

The governor's office said that one of the first things Maize hoped to accomplish was to coordinate all individual community conservation programs on a statewide basis.

The Public Utility Commission also issued orders Monday to electric utilities in the state, urging that they comply with the restrictions set forth by the federal government's Civilian Production Administration.

These orders prohibit the use of electricity, among other things, for outdoor and indoor advertising and promotional lighting; outdoor display and flood lighting, except to the extent necessary for the conduct of outdoor business or services; outdoor or indoor decorative and ornamental lighting; marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee, and street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local authorities to be necessary for public safety.

Under War Powers Act

A CPA spokesman said the order was issued under the second War Powers Act and that under the act all violators may be punished by maximum fine of $10,000, a term of one year imprisonment, or both.

Maize sent telegrams Mon. night to every mayor and burgess in Pennsylvania asking for their "full cooperation in the matter of conserving coal."

He authorized local communities "to close or restrict" schools, industrial plants, or amusement places if required as an emergency measure to conserve coal.

"Keep in mind this situation is serious," said Maize in his telegrams to civic officials. "Except for the local stocks of coal now held by consumers, retail dealers and on commercial docks," he added, "there is available for emergency distribution less than two days' production of bituminous coal."

Sees Threats To Freedom Of Press

Bogota, Colombia, Nov. 27 (AP) — Alberto Lleras Camargo, ex-president of Colombia, told the inter-American Press Congress at its opening session Monday night that economic and other governmental restrictions now threatened to deprive the world of press freedom.

President Mariano Ospina Perez, cabinet members, the diplomatic corps and more than 100 delegates from virtually all nations of the

LET CONTRACT FOR L. H. WORK

Harrisburg, Nov. 27—Reconstruction of 7.08 miles on the Lincoln Highway between Schellsburg and Bedford is provided for in a contract which the Department of Highways Tuesday awarded to the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Stripping and Construction Co., Hazleton. The amount of the contract was $1,034,764.43.

Bids for the project, received November 8, ranged from the low bid of the Hazleton Company to the high of $1,318,757.55 submitted by The Mitana Co., Carnegie.

Improved grade and alignment will result from the project. There will be three or four relocations totaling more than 2.5 miles. The contract calls for 407,887 cubic yards of excavation and more than 376,000 cubic yards of fill.

The pavement will be concrete 22 feet wide for most of the distance. However, it will vary up to 44 feet in some sections. The terms will be 100 feet wide in the filled sections and 8 feet in the cuts.

It will be necessary to establish two detours during the period of construction. Detour No. 1 will be Western Hemisphere were on hand as the Congress met in the Teatro Colon to work for stronger guarantees of freedom of information and wider cooperation among newspapers.

"Today we are closer to losing freedom of information than half a century ago or three or four centuries ago," said Lleras Camargo, expected to be elected Congress President.

Sees Stabilization As Great US Need

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 27 (AP) — Chairman Irving S. Olds of the board of the U. S. Steel Corp. sees stabilization of the national economy as the country's greatest current need.

At a press conference here Monday he warned that disaster lies ahead if the present pattern of wage increases followed by higher production costs and increased cost of living is continued indefinitely.

The industrialist said, however, that he was confident a solution could be worked out without further recourse to federal legislation in controlling the relationship between management and labor.

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Dr. Milliecent Carey McIntosh, headmistress of the Brearley school here, has been named to succeed Virginia C. Gildersleeve as dean of Barnard college, women's undergraduate branch of Columbia university. Barnard college, with a student body of 1,245, has no president other than the president of the university, but its dean holds a place in the academic world comparable to that of the presidents of other women's colleges.

8.55 miles in length over hard surfaced roads beginning at Schellsburg thence over Traffic Routes 96 and 31 through Manns Choice, Detour No. 2 will start in Bedford, thence over U. S. Route 220 and Rural Route 05047 over improved roads for a distance of 7.46 miles.

The eastern end of the contract starts approximately 2.6 miles west of Bedford at property of the Atlantic Refining Company. It will extend from that point west through Schellsburg.
